Settlement Of The Anthracite Fields Trouble
May Cause Serious Difficulty.

SOFT COAL MEN ARE APT TO QUIT

Rumor That Bituminous Miners Intend To Withdraw Contending Their Interests Demand The Ryan Resolution.

New York, Feb. 17.—The United Mine Workers of America stand confronted with the danger of a split in their ranks if President John Mitchell brings about a settlement for the anthracite coal miners in violation of the Ryan resolution passed by the national convention of the miners.

The resolution provides that the anthracite and soft coal miners will stand together and that no agreement can be signed with the anthracite operators unless the soft coal miners, who fear they cannot win out alone, gain their demands.

When President Mitchell first took charge the soft coal miners and anthracite miners had separate unions, but he solidified them. In case Mitchell closes an agreement with the anthracite operators, leaving the soft coal miners in the air as to their demands, it is thought likely they will break away and become an independent union again.

Split Over Eight Hours.
The sub-committee of seven miners, appointed at the meeting with the operators on Thursday as part of the joint committee of fourteen operators and miners to try and reach a basis of settlement of the anthracite miners' demands, started in to work at 9 o'clock Friday morning in the Ashland house. The first hitch came after they had been in session for several hours over the question of the general demand for the eight-hour work day.

Some of the members were of the opinion that it would have to be abandoned altogether if a settlement was looked for, as the employers had gone on record as saying that it would not be granted.

It was conceded by most of the committee that it would be perfectly useless to come forward with the demand for the eight-hour work day for the outside mine workers. The outside mine workers include the breaker boys, washers, slate pickers, and drivers.

One of the members of the committee said: "One-third of the employees would be cut out of the eight-hour demand if the demand is not made to include the outside workers. I believe, however, that the operators would give a flat refusal to an eight-hour day demand for the outside workers."

Mitchell refused to discuss the Ryan resolution or explain its actual provisions. Neither would he talk of the controversy with Dolan.

Oust Dolan From Office.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 17.—After scenes of wild disorder delegates attending the Pittsburg district miners' convention unanimously adopted a resolution at noon Friday declaring the office of president and vice president of the Pittsburg district miners vacant.

There was much disorder in the hall when the resolution was introduced. It grew more uproarious when President Dolan ruled the resolution out of order, and culminated in a scene of the greatest excitement when the delegates voted unanimously for its adoption. President Dolan arose in the midst of the turmoil and reiterated his previous declarations that he would never resign nor would he be ousted by a referendum vote of the miners of the Pittsburg district, who elected him their leader.

According to the attorneys for the delegates, the action taken by their clients is not in opposition to the temporary injunction secured recently by President Dolan. When the hearing on the injunction proceedings was held an agreement was reached between counsel for both sides that parliamentary rules were to be observed during the remaining sessions of the convention and that business was to progress as though there was no injunction.

The attorneys state the court's order protects President Dolan from personal violence, but does not interfere with the transaction of business.

When President Mitchell names Dolan and Bollingham's successors it is likely the whole matter will be taken into court by the delegates to compel the present officers to relinquish their offices.

ARREST MARSHAL FOR MINE FRAUD

Friend of President Roosevelt Says It Is Scheme To Defeat His Confirmation in Senate.

Nogales, Ari., Feb. 17.—United States Marshal Ben Daniels was arrested Friday by Sheriff Fowler of Santa Cruz county on a charge of fraud. Hans Larson, the complainant, states that Daniels sold him a mine in Harsha district a year ago for $800, and that when he went to do the assessment work James Harrison, supervisor of Santa Cruz county, claimed the property was his.

Larson demanded the return of the money which, he says, Daniels refused. Daniels was a rough rider and friend of President Roosevelt. He was appointed marshal last fall, but has not yet been confirmed by the Senate. Daniels says because his confirmation is still pending in the Senate he thinks there is no harm in what he is doing. He could not afford to stand trial and would readily give up the $800 demanded.

SHOOTSELF WITH RIFLE WHILE LYING IN BED; MAY LIVE

Henry Sorenson, a Hired Man in Town of Newark, Attempted Suicide While in a Fit of Despondency.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Orfordville, Feb. 17.—Henry Sorenson, who has been in the employ of Knudt Logan of Newark for several years, attempted suicide by shooting while lying in bed some time yesterday morning. He has been despondently deranged. He returned about half-past seven o'clock Thursday evening, earlier than usual. Mr. Logan remained up, reading to his children. At eight o'clock they spied a face peering in at the window. Logan suspected the man was a "chicken thief" and he declared his intention of filling the legs of the intruder with buck-shot. His son begged him not to shoot and Logan went to Sorenson's room to seek his help in scaring away the raiders. Sorenson was not there and Logan remarked that "Henry must be the one outside." He went out and his suspicion was confirmed. Sorenson had gone out via a cubby-hole which leads from his room to the woodshed and returned later by the same route. At what time it is not known, for Logan remained awake until eleven waiting for his man to return. In the morning Sorenson was called at the usual time, but he turned over in bed and made no reply. Logan supposed the man had come home intoxicated and left him to sleep off the supposed effects. Logan did the morning work and when he returned at dinner time his son informed him that Henry was still sleeping, but that he would call the man. He returned exclaiming: "Henry is all covered with blood." Logan believed Sorenson had been fighting and called in a neighbor, Mr. Hanson, to help take care of the man. Investigation revealed a thirty-two calibre rifle in bed with the man and a wound on the right side of the head, above and to the back of the eye. Dr. Anderson and Constable Nolly were called. The bullet was found lodged near a fracture of the skull and another was found lying in bed. Sorenson is conscious and there are some hopes of his recovery.

INSURANCE CO. QUITS IN MASS.

Provident Savings Life Assurance Society Unable to Comply with Valuation Standards of Bay State.

Boston, Feb. 17.—Unable to comply with the valuation standards maintained by the Massachusetts Insurance department, the Provident Savings Life Assurance society, incorporated under the laws of New York, has withdrawn from this state. Timothy L. Woodruff, president of the society, was here during the week to endeavor to prevail upon the Insurance department to accept the company's valuation of its liabilities in place of the department's. This was refused.

Before the Insurance department was informed that the society would withdraw.

The action of the company in withdrawing marks the culmination of a long struggle between the state and the company over the valuation of policy reserves.

The difference in the computations made by the New York and Massachusetts departments is very great, as shown in the 1904 report. The surplus of unassigned funds in the New York report is given as $551,767 and in the Massachusetts report $41,038.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Assistant Secretary Hayes of the department of agriculture detailed plans of the department for gathering and safeguarding its reports at the general hearing on crop statistics before the house committee on agriculture. He said the department proposed to retain the crop reporting board; to have 2,800 county reporting agents; forty-one district agents and several supervising inspectors, who shall travel and instruct district agents. Different codes are to be furnished each district agent monthly, and the agents' reports are to be given to computers in sections, to avoid the possibility of leakage. When asked about the accuracy of the cotton estimates for last year Mr. Hayes said that, judged by statistics in gauging the cotton report was within 2 per cent. of the actual production. Eastern Markets.

(By William Wolff Smith.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—The failure of the Cuban tobacco crop of the current season is the worst in the history of that country, according to consular advices to the state department from Havana. The American charge de affaires, Mr. Sleeper, reports that the American smoking public will first feel the effects of the consequent higher prices because of the preference for the "green cigar" while European smokers value more the "seasoned cigar." The American preference, therefore, necessitates fresher stocks by manufacturer and dealer. His report is as follows: "The past history of the tobacco-raising industry records no such general destruction of a tobacco crop as by the torrential rains recently. Leading planters declare that not more than from 30 to 35 per cent. of the regular harvest will be reaped, and that the quality of the leaf marketed will be very deficient in quality. The number of bales of tobacco in 1905 was 469, while the estimate is 160,000 bales. The latter figure will be further reduced because the acreage in tobacco is not so large. That the 1906 crop will hardly supply even local needs is evident by the fact that Havana cigar factories alone require 100,000 bales yearly. Appeals to the Cuban government have come from all parts of the afflicted districts. The remedy most in favor is to render both direct and indirect aid to the devastated districts. It is proposed to execute a system of public works that will prevent a recurrence of the overflow of the rivers so destructive in some districts, in addition to giving employment to many hands that usually find work in the tobacco fields. The outlook is extremely gloomy and the scarcity of seedlings blights the last hope of the early recouping of the losses suffered."

CUSTODIAN KEPT BUSY IN WORKING FOR MANY OTHERS

Federal Employe Says He Is Kept Going All
The Time By His Many Friends.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The House committee on appropriations, in the course of its examination of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill Friday, discovered a man in the employ of the government who apparently has as many things to do as William Nelson Cromwell. He is Bernard R. Green, custodian of the congressional library and the capitol. In addition he finds time to attend to these other matters:

Acts as constructing architect of the new national museum building, for which he draws $2,000 a year from the government in addition to his regular salary.

Supervises the building of the new wing on the Raleigh Hotel. This is to "help out a friend."

Superintends for the owners the construction of the New Willard hotel. The owners were described by Mr. Green as "friends of mine."

Acts as general adviser to the commission having in charge the building of the Pennsylvania capitol at Harrisburg. This job lasted three years, for which Mr. Green was paid $4,000 a year and traveling expenses.

Works All the Time.
Preliminary to drawing out the above information, Chairman Tawney asked Mr. Green just how much time he gives to the work at the library, putting the question direct.

"I cannot answer that except to say that I am employed all of the time," was the reply.

Mr. Tawney contended that the $80,000 asked for the care of the library was unduly large. "I figure that," he continued, "as about 1.3 per cent. of the original cost of the building. I also ascertained from an examination of the appropriation bills that for the same sort of service that you are performing for the maintenance and care of the capitol building, which is twice the size of the library, the cost is only $65,000, and this is an old building needing constant repairs."

Mr. Green went into the details of the work and said he could not figure out how the estimates were to be reduced.

Alice Wedded At Noon Today

Ceremony Performed At The White House
This Noon At Sharp Twelve O'clock.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING CEREMONY

President's Oldest Daughter Weds Nicholas Longworth
Of Ohio Today--A Great Social Event
In Washington.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—Miss Alice Roosevelt was united in marriage at noon today in the historic East Room of the White House, to Representative Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati. It was a magnificent wedding, but there was nothing spectacular about it. In accordance with the wishes of both families, but more especially in deference to the views of the President, the ceremony and the breakfast and reception that followed, the decorations and the music, and the other attendant features were characterized by simplicity. But it was a rich simplicity. Crowds began to gather about the White House at an early hour, and the services of a number of police were brought into requisition to keep the roadway and approaches clear. The men assigned to this duty had brushed up their best uniforms and best helmets, polished their buttons, donned new white gloves and altogether presented a decidedly natty appearance.

Up to eleven o'clock there was little to reward the patience of the crowd, which by this time was quite dense. One of the first carriages to arrive contained Bishop Henry Yates Satterlee, and an assistant carrying a satchel which contained the episcopal vestments. Then in rapid succession rode up the handsome equipages with the invited guests. Every arrival was eagerly scanned by the crowd, but very little could be seen of any of the costumes by outsiders owing to the awnings leading up to the doors, and which prevented the guests from being seen in alighting from their carriages. The crowd, however, made up for this surrounding the carriages which were in line, men and women scrambling and jostling against each other in their eagerness to see the occupants.

Inside the executive mansion the reception of the guests was in charge of the President's military and naval aides, among them Colonel Charles Sumner Brownell, Rear Admiral Wm. S. Cowles, Major Charles L. McCawley of the Marine Corps, Lieutenant Commander Albert L. Key, Lieutenant U. S. Grant, Lieutenant P. H. Sheridan and Lieutenant Fitzhugh Lee.

At a quarter of twelve the guests assembled in the East Room. Spacious though it is, the chamber was scarcely able to accommodate the throng, which included, besides the near kinsfolk and personal friends of the contracting parties, a vast number of diplomats, cabinet officers, justices of the supreme court, members of congress and others whose official position entitled them to the right of entry. The men far outnumbered the women among the guests, as the invitations sent to many of the officials did not include their wives or families.

The government landscape gardener, George H. Brown, and his corps of assistants had converted the East Room into a bower of beauty. The walls were lined with rare palms from the government propagating gardens, and the mantels, windows and curved nooks of the parlor were banked with brilliant roses, Easter lilies and lilies of the valley in bewildering profusion. Southern smilax and laurel were also much in evidence in the decorations.

The temporary altar, which had been erected in front of the large center windows on the east side of the room, was surrounded by tall golden stands filled with clusters of long-stemmed lilies. In front was a prie-dieu of green, enlivened by clusters of bride roses and ribbons, on which the couple knelt during the ceremony. Large clusters of lilies and other flowers were to be seen in the Blue Room and other parlors of the mansion, adding to the general effect.

The Ceremony.
Promptly on the stroke of twelve, Bishop Satterlee and the Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, director of the church which Mrs. and Miss Roosevelt always have attended in Washington, entered the parlor and took up their positions on the right and left of the altar. A minute later a string orchestra burst forth in a soft sweet melody and the bride party were heard descending the stairs. There was a hush of expectancy and every eye in the vast assembly was turned toward the door. The bride entered the wedding parlor on the arm of her father. In the bridal party were Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Cowles, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Lee of Boston, the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, mother of the bridegroom, and several others. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Ethel Roosevelt.

The bride looked particularly young and girlish and appeared perfectly unconscious of the interest taken in her finery. She carried a bridal bouquet composed of white and pink roses and orchids from the White House conservatory. She was attired in a magnificent gown of richest white satin, made en Princess, with bertha of point lace, deep in the front and narrow at the back. The elbow sleeves were finished with a lace cuff. But the most remarkable part of the gown was the train. This was of very heavy brocade, the design being the real Chinese tiger. It was in court style, fastened at the shoulders and extending in rich heavy folds far behind the wearer. The dress was faced with innumerable little frills, the bride and bridegroom will be the victims of several shocking surprises very shortly. Archie and Kermit Roosevelt are reported among the conspirators.

The bride couple will be carried southward in the luxurious new Pullman car Republic. The exact destination has not been made known save to a favored few, but it is probable that after a brief stop in Carolina or Georgia the trip will be extended to Florida. Representative Longworth plans, however, to be back in Washington within ten days or two weeks in order to resume his official duties. When Congress adjourns the couple will go to Europe. They will spend the entire season in London as guests of the American Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid. Before returning they will go to Paris, where they will be received by President Faure, and possibly a short tour of the continent may be made.

The Wedding Presents.
Mrs. Longworth is the recipient of some wonderfully exquisite wedding gifts. Much valuable plate and jewels are included among the presents. The gifts of the bridegroom included two diamond necklaces and a long diamond and pearl chain. From her parents the bride received a large corsage ornaments of diamonds and emeralds, and from Mrs. Longworth a handsome set of jewels. Other notable gifts included a superb silver pitcher from Mr. James Stillman, a magnificent dog collar of pearls and diamonds from the Whiteclaw Reid, and a beautiful emerald chain from the Secretary of State and Mrs. Root. The members of the party which accompanied Secretary Taft to the Philippines presented the bride with a handsome ornament, to be worn either as a brooch or pendant. The stones of the ornament are blue aquamarines, surrounded by diamonds with a setting of gold. Then there was the much-discussed $25,000 Gobelin tapestry, the gift of President

Nicholas Longworth is the only son of the late Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati, one of the wealthy men of the Ohio metropolis, a generation ago. He graduated from Harvard in the class of 1891 and was admitted to the bar of Cincinnati in 1894. He is now serving his second term as Representative from the First Ohio district. He is a member of the Metropolitan, Alibi and Chevy Chase Clubs in Washington, and is well known in New York and Boston.

His mother lived for a number of years had a summer home on the coast of Massachusetts, where Miss Roosevelt was her guest in the summer of 1904. Early in the past summer she made a visit to Cincinnati, where she was entertained by Mr. Longworth's sister, Mrs. Wallingford, so that she is already known to her husband's family.

Other White House Weddings.
Today's wedding was the first to take place in the White House since the marriage of President Cleveland to Miss Frances Folsom in 1886. That was the first time that a President was married in the executive mansion, and the occasion was celebrated in a manner to make it long memorable. The intervals before that ran back to the wedding, in 1874, of Nellie Grant to Algernon Sartoris.

Harriet Lane Johnson was married in the White House in the last year of President Buchanan's administration, 1860. She was Buchanan's niece. The daughter of President Monroe was the first daughter of a president to be married in the White House, her wedding to a member of the Livingston family taking place in the Green Room in 1830. Robert Todd, the son of Dolly Madison of her first husband, was married in the White House to his cousin in President Madison's second term, this being the first marriage to take place there.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier. In nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purposes.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines, and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion. It whitens the teeth and furrows acts as a natural and eminently safe cosmetic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat; from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges; the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The bride of today is the only child of the President's first marriage, and was 22 years old this week. She was named for her mother, Alice Lee, the latter having been the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Lee of Boston, to whom the President became engaged during his college days at Harvard and to whom he was married in 1882.

On the death of her mother she became the charge of her aunt, Mrs. William S. Cowles, who was then Miss Anna Roosevelt, and to the present day is as much the child of Mrs. Cowles' affection as though she were a daughter instead of a niece. She has resided with her father and step-mother in later years, but even since their coming to the White House has spent long periods elsewhere, either with her maternal grandmother or with numerous relatives in New York.

She was one of the party accompanying the Secretary of War to the Philippines, as was also Representative Longworth, their engagement being rumored several times during the journey.

Miss Roosevelt made her debut at a ball given in the East Room early in January, 1903, since which date she has enjoyed a succession of attentions never before offered any American girl.

Although born in New York she has spent more than half her time in Washington, having been here as a small child when her father was Civil Service Commissioner, later when he was Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and finally when she came to grace the White House.

JUDGE SALE'S STATEMENT.

To the electors of the Twelfth Judicial Circuit:

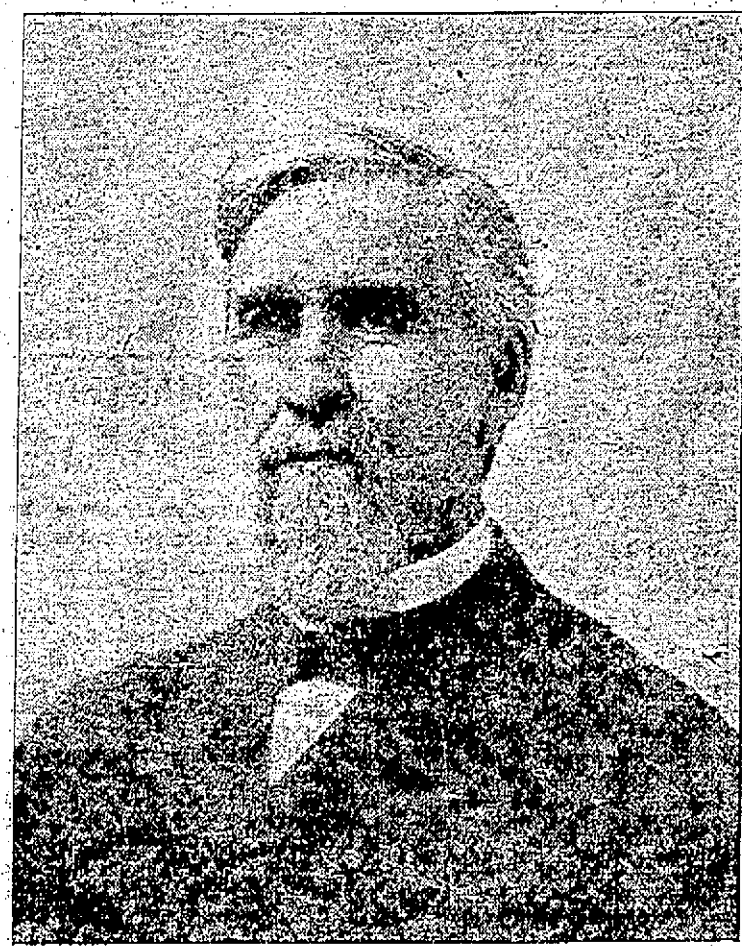

At a meeting of the bar held pursuant to call for the purpose of suggesting to the electors of the Twelfth Judicial Circuit his choice of a candidate for circuit judge I was selected as such choice by a vote of 33 to 14, the 14 being divided among other candidates whose names were presented for consideration.

Following this action I was waited upon at my office by a committee appointed to inform me of the action taken as above, and after considering the matter with them I consented to the use of my name for nomination as a candidate, subject to certain conditions which have now become immaterial.

I was impelled to this by considerations some of which I may be pardoned if I mention. Upon the death of the late Judge John R. Bennett the Rock county bar with substantial unanimity requested me to allow my name to be presented to the governor for appointment as his successor. After considering the matter I declined to allow the use of my name. Notwithstanding that I had declined to have my name used in connection with the appointment I was positively assured that the appointment would be made if I would accept it. While I fully appreciated the high honor and the kind partiality of my friends in thus urging my appointment at that time there were then considerations which I felt rendered a positive declination imperative.

This then is the second time that the bar with great unanimity has asked me to become a candidate for circuit judge.

The suggestion and choice of the bar is now endorsed by the presentation to me of nomination papers signed by more than eighteen hundred electors of the Twelfth Judicial Circuit, among whom I find forty-six of my brethren of the Rock county bar.

JUDGE J. W. SALE

An examination of these nomination papers show them to be thoroughly representative, including as they do, farmers, manufacturers, professional and business men, and absolutely non-partisan, being signed by electors affiliated with all parties and from each of the several counties comprising the circuit.

This nomination so generously tendered I gratefully accept and in due time the nomination papers will be filed with the secretary of state so that my name may appear on the official judicial ballot at the coming spring election.

I am not unmindful of the grave duties and responsibilities, as well as the dignity and honor of the position of circuit judge. In accepting the call to become a candidate I rely much on the friends with whom I have lived and labored for many years, in their assurance that I am not wholly unfitted to perform the duties of the office acceptably to the people of the circuit.

Were I otherwise disposed to make a personal canvass of the circuit in the interest of my candidacy, my duties as county judge would prevent me from so doing; but my inclination as well as my idea of the proprieties to be observed in connection with my candidacy would prevent any personal solicitation of support had I no duties to interfere.

My life has been spent and my work done in Rock county, the last nineteen years of it as county judge of the county.

While I fully appreciate the partiality of my friends in placing me before you, so long a time upon the county bench and always without opposition, when there were and are so many others fully competent to conduct the duties of the office acceptably, I feel that a change of work to the circuit bench would be exceedingly gratifying to me.

I therefore submit my candidacy to the electors for their decision and should I be elected circuit judge I will give to the performance of the duties of the office the best efforts of which I am capable.

Respectfully,
J. W. SALE.

Tillman's Request for Postponement Is Granted by Committee.
Washington, Feb. 17.—Upon the request of Senator Tillman, who fears he is threatened with pneumonia, the interstate commerce committee on interstate commerce has postponed action upon the bill and all important amendments until next Friday. It is expected that both Senator Tillman and Senator Culbourn will be able to be present then, and that the rate regulation legislation problem will be finally solved so far as this committee is concerned. At Friday morning's session amendments were tentatively agreed upon. One of these provides that the commission shall have nine members, instead of seven, as provided by the Hepburn bill. Six members of the committee voted for the larger commission, while five opposed the increase. The other amendment, offered by Mr. Carmack, provides that a railroad company shall be liable for damage to freight passing over its line and any other line or lines to which it may connect, no matter where the damage may have occurred. In other words, the initial line is made responsible to the shipper. The amendment also provides that the railroad paying such damages may recover from the railroad on which the damage actually occurred. The vote in favor of this was practically unanimous. While this action is not binding, it is thought probable both of

Never Felt It

"Thank you, Dr. Richards, for not hurting me," said MISS MAMIE BUTLER, 208 McKee Boulevard. She had just had three big molar teeth extracted and was expressing her feelings regarding it.

"I had suffered so with my teeth that I was nervous enough to die almost thinking about it," she continued.

"But I NEVER FELT IT one bit when you took out those teeth."

This is a common experience with Dr. Richards, because he actually "MAKES GOOD," as the expression goes, in his claims to do PAINLESS dentistry.

Another thing: Dr. Richards never violates the confidence of his patients and all names appearing in testimonials in this paper are placed there with the FULL KNOWLEDGE and PERMISSION of the owners, and NEVER being so pleased and satisfied with results of having him do their work that they very often volunteer their names.

Consult him yourself and secure immunity from pain in your dental work.

RATIONAL TALK
FROM CONDUCTOR

R. A. PECK AWAKENS FROM LETHARGY THIS MORNING.

NO TESTIMONY FROM HIM

However What Witnesses Said At

Baraboo Yesterday May Exhonerate

Operator Stone.

Conductor Randall A. Peck of Baraboo, who has lain in a stupor at the Palmer hospital for more than sixty hours, the result of a blow on the head received in the wreck of Wednesday evening, awoke from his lethargy for the first time this morning.

He recognized Drs. Palmer and Woods when they called on him this morning, and answered questions.

He gave his name and age correctly, told the number of years he had been on the road and other facts, showing that his mind has not been unbalanced by the injury. This afternoon a report from the hospital said he was sleeping heavily, in the same condition as he was when brought to the hospital, but that he can be roused and is able to talk, which was impossible before this morning. This shows that he is recovering gradually.

However, no attempt will be made for some days to gather any evidence from him regarding the responsibility for the wreck. The railroad company in their investigation will not rush but wait until the man is nearly recovered and it is believed the coroner's jury will do the same, believing that the result will be more satisfactory. Until Mr. Peck has testified the railroad company will acquit or censure, none of the members of the freight crew, nor Rollo Stone, the operator.

Result of Investigation

Though this testimony is being awaited some witnesses were heard in Baraboo yesterday. Brakemen Rice and Lyons and Operator Stone appeared before the officials. The testimony that was given exonerated Operator Stone. It says that Stone gave Conductor Peck the right of track to Alton when the latter arrived in Janesville. This was not used immediately and Conductor Peck later asked if it was still good. Stone replied "No," and stated that the "block," as it is called, had been annulled and given to number 11, the DeKalb passenger accommodation. Further it is said that Conductor Peck did not secure another right of track but departed with his train from the station as soon as the Chicago passenger arrived, believing that it was the DeKalb train. Nevertheless this does not clear Stone, nor does it blame Peck in the eyes of the officials. It is simply testimony. Rollo Stone is continuing as day operator at the depot.

Tools Were Stolen

While the wrecking crews were at work Thursday morning an axe and a saw were stolen from the Baraboo outfit. The thief was seen taking the tools and is known and unless returned shortly Mr. Hoffman, Master Mechanic of the Madison division, has left orders in the city for the arrest and prosecution of the offenders.

Society..

Janesville was well represented at the Junior Prom at Madison last evening. This swell party of the University year was held in the University Gymnasium and is considered the finest ever given by any University class. Especial honor was paid to Janesville, due to the fact, Miss Elizabeth Wilcox and her escort, General Prom Chairman Mitchell Hoyt of Oak Park, Illinois, led the grand march. The vast hall was most tastefully decorated for the occasion and each of the fraternities had their private boxes along the side of the walls, which were also a blaze of beauty. Each of the fraternities gave house parties, at which invited guests will be entertained until Monday. According to the Milwaukee papers ice-cream parties, dances, sleigh rides, suppers and even trips to Janesville have been planned for the time up to Monday, when the invited guests will leave for their homes. Among Janesville people who were guests of the different fraternities and independent box parties at the dance are: Phi Kappa Psi—Mr. and Mrs. Bernard M. Palmer, Miss Grace Valentine, and Rollin Lewis; Psi Upsilon—Miss Elizabeth Wilcox; Alpha Delta Phi—Mr. and Mrs. Wallace MacGregor of Racine, and Miss Elizabeth McKee; Kappa Sigma—Miss Daisy Kelly and Miss Isabelle Smith; Phi Kappa Sigma—Miss Ella Sutherland and Miss Irma Keltner; Delta Tau Delta—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Clark, and Miss Pearl Peters at an independent box party.

On Monday evening the seventh concert of the Apollo Club will be held in Library Hall. Mrs. W. F. Bosworth has charge of the program and Mrs. Krum and Mrs. J. F. Sweeney are to render the program selected. Mr. Howard Krum is to preside at the piano.

Janesville is to have many new automobiles this coming season. George F. Parker has already purchased a Maxwell, and Arthur Harris, Norman Carle, David Jeffris and Wilson Lane are all investigating different makes with the probability of purchasing a machine of this year's model. These with the fifteen already owned in the city will make some twenty odd machines owned in the city before the summer really opens and will place Janesville well up on the lists of an automobile city. Already an automobile club is in existence and it is probable that several country runs will be made during the coming summer in conjunction with the Rockford club.

On Thursday—Washington's Birthday—The ladies of the Janesville chapter of the D. A. R. will hold a meeting at Mrs. Lappin's residence on Park Place. It will be a costume affair and the ladies will be garbed in the proper raiment of the colonial days. In the evening they will hold a concert in Library hall at which the national airs will be sung.

Miss Anna Louisa and Deane Adams will be united in marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bennett, 1065 Humboldt street, Denver, Colo., Sunday, Feb. 15, at 4 p. m. Rev. W. F. Coyte of the Central Presbyterian church will officiate. Miss Louisa is the youngest daughter of James W. London of this city and a cousin of Mrs. C. C. Bennett.

Under the auspices of the young men students of the Southern Wisconsin Business college a delightful dancing party was held last evening in East Side Odd Fellows hall. About forty couples were present and the festivities were in progress from nine in the evening until one in the morning. Music was furnished by Dreyer's orchestra.

Twenty friends of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Drake visited their home on Chatham St. last night and organized an impromptu celebration of their seventeenth wedding anniversary. Cards furnished the entertainment of the evening and the festivities concluded with a tempting spread.

This afternoon Mrs. Lappin, Mrs. Edwin Carpenter, Mrs. Charles Putnam and Mrs. Mary Dory are hostesses at the last of a series of three five o'clock teas. Ninety-five guests are invited. The other two teas given were held on Tuesday and Thursday last.

Mrs. John G. Rexford entertained the Ladies' Afternoon Whist club at her home on Sinclair street yesterday afternoon.

Stuyvesant Fish Resigns When Needed Information Is Held Back.

MAY JOIN THE LAWSON FACTION

Member of Investigating Committee
Resents Action of Officers in Regard to Request for Full Knowledge of Company's Affairs.

New York, Feb. 17.—The long predicted split in the Mutual Life's self investigating committee came Friday, when Stuyvesant Fish refused to serve on the committee any longer. He announced his resignation from the committee to two other members, William H. Truesdale and John W. Auchincloss, at a meeting of the committee late in the afternoon. Beyond verifying the fact that he had resigned Mr. Fish refused to discuss the split.

President Charles A. Peabody of the Mutual Life when told of Mr. Fish's retirement said he had not received any word from Mr. Fish in regard to the matter and could not, therefore, say what was Mr. Fish's reason for getting out.

Demands Information.
Mr. Fish has been insisting for several weeks that the Truesdale committee should resign by the requisition which it made upon the management of the Mutual Life for information. This requisition was made on Dec. 26, when Frederic Cromwell was head of the institution. Mr. Peabody took office on Jan. 1 and the requisition was turned over to him by Mr. Cromwell. It is understood the document was signed by all three members of the committee. It called on the management of the Mutual to furnish the committee with an enormous amount of information, which included all profits, fees or emoluments made by officers, trustees or employees of the company through their connection in any way with subsidiary companies or with syndicate operations in which the company was interested.

It has been said the document is more comprehensive even than the notable requisition which the Frick investigating committee of the Equitable made upon the former management of that company. It also has been said that the information called for if it is furnished, probably would be the basis for suits against members of the board of trustees, and especially against members of the finance committee.

Hampers Investigation.
President Peabody in an interview only a few days ago denied emphatically that he had any knowledge of discord in the investigating committee, and said that he never had refused to furnish the committee with information. It is the general opinion among insurance men that the split in the committee is bound to have a deteriorating effect in its future work. The committee has not accomplished much as it is. It was organized some time before the New York Life investigating committee, and thus far only one report has been made public.

It was not said whether the two remaining members of the committee would carry on the investigation alone or whether a third would be appointed. The next meeting of the Mutual's board of trustees will be held the last week in March.

Stuyvesant Fish was approached recently by representatives of the governors' committee organized to vote Mutual and New York Life proxies held by Thomas W. Lawson. It was said the governors' committee wanted Mr. Fish to head the organization. Mr. Fish announced he would consider no proposition connected with the insurance situation while he was a member of the Mutual's self-investigating committee. What will be the attitude towards the governors' committee, now that he is free, probably will be disclosed soon.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—In view of recent events in China, the Russian government, like that of the United States, has found it advisable to take necessary military measures to be prepared for all eventualities. It is asserted that Japan is openly encouraging China, and steps are being taken to keep 100,000 Russian soldiers within striking distance of the Chinese border.

Psychic Phenomena.

Carrying out experiments in psychic phenomena, some scientists at Ruvo produced some striking results. A fourteen-year-old boy was put in trance and in this condition answered questions put to him in Greek, Latin, Arabic, French, English, German, and conversed in those languages, his voice being that of a man.

Toil.

If you want knowledge you must toil for it; if food, you must toil for it; and if pleasure, you must toil for it. Toil is the law. Pleasure comes through toil, and not by self-indulgence and indolence. When one gets to love work, his life becomes a happy one.

Uncle Allen.
"If you think talk is cheap said Uncle Allen Sparks, 'do a little of it needlessly, let somebody see you for slandering, and then hire a lawyer to defend you, and you'll change your mind.'"

CIRCUSES RETURN TO THE WAGON WAY

Day of Railroad Show is at Hand Says
Report from Iowa—Rate Agitation Responsible.

Janesville, the home of many old-time circus men and the city that cherishes the memory of once having been the quarters of a great wagon show, is always interested in circuses and now she is talking of the news that comes from Eldora, Iowa. This purports that the day of the railroad show is near at hand and that this season numerous small wagon shows will be launched. According to the theory of those Eldorians who are in a position to speak and know the spring season of 1906 will see more of the old-fashioned circus wagon show throughout Iowa, Minnesota and the Dakotas—in fact, the entire middle west—than ever before. This will be due to the increased transportation rates demanded by the railroads because of the rate legislation agitation. One manager in Iowa who is now fitting up a wagon show to start with the coming of spring and summer says that last year the transportation on his show cost $150 daily and this year the rate charged by the railroads will be $250 a day. All shows, large and small, will be affected by the rise and as the result many a company will buy equipment, take to the road, make smaller jumps and save the immense cost in railroad transportation, bringing many of the children of the present day face to face with the old-fashioned wagon shows of their fathers. It is predicted that there will be more smash-ups and financial failures in a show business this year than for a great many seasons on account of exorbitant prices demanded for transportation. One Des Moines showman predicts in five years that there will be but three railroad shows in the business.
